Marketplace for Kids NEWS RELEASE

MARKETPLACE FOR KIDS EDUCATION DAY TO BE HELD MARCH 15, 2011 AT DAKOTA COLLEGE IN BOTTINEAU

Bottineau, ND - January 28, 2011 - Hundreds of enthusiastic young entrepreneurs from the Bottineau area will be attending Marketplace for Kids on Tuesday, March 15, 2011, at Dakota College in Bottineau.

“This year our theme is Fast Forward to the Future with Innovation,” announced Aimee Erdman, chair of the Advisory Leadership Team which helps plan the Education Day. The theme invites students to explore their future as an inventor or entrepreneur as well as use their innovative minds to solve future problems they may face. “The future that awaits our youth is one filled with endless opportunity, but may present some challenges as well,” stated Erdman.

Marilyn Kipp, Executive Director of Marketplace for Kids, announced that the Learning Guide has a new look and a new addition. Innovation in Art and Literature, A Youth Initiative, has been announced in cooperation with Beautiful Women of North Dakota™. This exciting new initiative is designed for students interested in writing. Stories written following the theme – true beauty comes from within – and showcased at an Education Day, will be submitted for an opportunity to be published by Kototama Publishing.

Marketplace for Kids is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated to providing world class learning opportunities in the areas of creativity, problem solving, and innovation. Marketplace for Kids is open to any student that wants to participate. Parents, grandparents, and community leaders will join the students during this exciting day.... “Fast Forward to the Future With Innovation,” come along with us!
