Governor's WELCOME

Governor Doug Burgum

Welcome to Marketplace for Kids and Education Days!

In 1995, Marketplace for Kids hosted the very first Education Day. Since then, tens of thousands of students, educators and parents have worked with the organization to encourage and inspire entrepreneurship and innovation in youth. By helping students develop creative thinking and problem-solving skills, Marketplace for Kids helps build a bigger, brighter future for our communities and our economy.

Given the challenges, innovations, and opportunities that await future generations of North Dakotans, critical thinking and continuous learning is - and will remain - key to individual success and the continued advancement of our great state.

Marketplace for Kids projects, programs and regional Education Days would not be possible without the generous support of volunteers, businesses and organizations. Lt. Gov. Sanford and First Lady Kathryn join me in recognizing the commitment of so many to instill the entrepreneurial spirit in young people. Thank you for exploring your creativity with the purpose and power to change your life and improve the lives of others. Have a great day at Marketplace for Kids!

With gratitude,

Doug Burgum
Governor of North Dakota
