US
Senator
John
Hoeven
(Video Message)

John Hoeven currently serves as North Dakota's 22nd U.S. Senator following ten years of service as the state's Governor. As Governor, Hoeven worked to build North Dakota's future by focusing on six pillars of growth: education, economic development, agriculture, energy, quality of life and technology. He believes a commonsense approach that fosters free enterprise and empowers people to innovate and invest will strengthen our national economy and create jobs for our country in a sustainable, ongoing way. Senator Hoeven and his wife Mikey reside in Bismarck. They have two children and seven grandsons.

Governor Doug Burgum

Welcome students, parents, teachers, volunteers and community and business leaders. Your participation in today's Marketplace for Kids Education Day can change lives!

Since its inception in 1995, Marketplace for Kids has helped tens of thousands of participants develop skills that drive entrepreneurship, inspire innovation and ignite creative thinking. Your work to create an innovative, entrepreneurial workforce will better the lives of North Dakotans and strengthen our communities for years to come.

As the first state to require cybersecurity instruction in K-12 schools, North Dakota recognizes the challenges and opportunities of changing technology, industries and career paths. Young people today have unlimited ability to explore new avenues for expression, inspiration and prosperity. The unifying principles of science, technology, engineering, art and math are fundamental to that journey and necessary to the future they will one day create.

Lt. Gov. Tammy Miller and First Lady Kathryn join me in deepest gratitude for the generous support and unwavering commitment of the volunteers, businesses, organizations, teachers and families that create the Marketplace for Kids experience. Thank you for the work you do, year after year, to empower others and inspire excellence.

To the students here today, thank you for sharing your vision, time and talents, and for actively seeking to unlock your potential and broaden your knowledge. We look forward to all you will create as you seek to build a better world and a better future.

Have a great day at Marketplace for Kids!

Doug Burgum Governor of North Dakota
